

Willow House (Berkshire Adolescent Service)

Back to results

Willow House is our inpatient mental health unit for young people aged 12 to 18 years. We provide intensive treatment for young people who are experiencing mental health difficulties, and who may no longer be able to receive the care they need at home or in the community.

We've developed specific treatment programmes for young people with severe and enduring mental illness, eating disorders, and problems in social and emotional development.

The team here at the Berkshire Adolescent Service has a wealth of experience in treating and supporting young people. We consist of nurses and support workers, consultant psychiatrists, psychologists, family therapists, and an art therapist.

The unit is on the site of Wokingham hospital, near Wokingham Station.

We also provide inpatient services to young people who don't live in Berkshire if there's no bed for them in their local area.
