

Shallu Nagi - Childminder

Back to results

I have a degree in English and in Arts but found my vocation in life, spending my time with children. I am a mother of three happy & well rounded children all attending local schools. My husband and I became registered foster carers for vulnerable kids in 2013. However having turned my focus on Childminding instead, I am keen on providing a brilliant childminding service! Although we have a spacious large house, I only prefer to accept a small number of children in order to provide a unique 'one to one' tailored service which is cosy and nurturing. My experience lies with catering for children and have done so over the past 14 years. Although this relates to my own children followed by foster children, I always aim to be compassionate, caring and promote a nurturing environment to get the best out of children of all abilities. By keeping to a very small number of children in my sessions, I maximise the specialist attention I can offer so the child feels really valued.
